Newly established (2005) Edmund Rice Centre for Social Justice Fremantle was created with a clear mandate to become a space and place for justice in Western Australia; to speak truth to power and by our actions live in truth.

This Focus Forum is the first of many gatherings, education seminars, campaign strategy sessions and celebrations.

It is being held to 'map' the justice landscape of WA and to provide the space to discover, network, share strategy, highlight training needs and facilitate the formation of affinity groups, alliances and partnerships.

Good people, organisations, groups and activities exist in abundance within our communities; a fact that is truly astonishing.

It is time to gather, discover and celebrate our diversity; develop and nurture strong complementary networks and open the space for effective strategy that will enable us to unite in common causes and stand apart as we each tackle the innumerable social, political, spiritual and environmental dis-ease in local & global communities.

It is also time to celebrate the work we do! To re-invigorate the spirit of justice - whatever that is!- and discover the glue that binds us together under the rubric of 'a better world is possible.'
